

SATURDAY, MAY 18, 3 A. M.

NOTICE.—Wm. H. Ulrich is my authorized agent for the sale of the Journal of the States of Tennessee, Alabama and Georgia, and I point south. Persons desirous of subscriptions for the Journal, either in large or small quantities, will do well to address him at Nashville, Tennessee, Box 151.

ACTS OF THE LAST LEGISLATURE.—We have a few copies of the acts passed at the last session of the Legislature for sale at $10 per volume.

Important Notice.

Subscribers to the Journal should observe our published terms, and remit in conformity therewith. Any subscriber failing to do so will be promptly corrected on receiving notice of the fact.

Gold keeps tumbling down in New York, to the technical language of "the place where merchants most do commerce," in consequence of a large supply in the market. During the past few days there has been a decline of some seven or eight per cent. Yesterday it was quoted as low as 120, and the prediction is indulged in that in a few days it will be down to 120 or 125. But the most singular fact noticeable is that as gold goes down, the price of vegetables go up—on the seacoast principle.

STAMP ENVELOPES.—We yesterday published a paragraph from some Eastern paper about the low price of stamped envelopes. We are informed by our postmaster that the price there is much below our post-office is instructed to sell at. Three-cent envelopes are 30c per pack of 20, or 80c per thousand.

LOUISVILLE THEATRE.—The house was crowded last night on the occasion of Mr. Macneely's benefit, and the play of the season of a Peacock, Mrs. Macneely, was exceedingly rendered.

To-night, his last appearance, will be performed Richard III, with Mr. Macneely as Richard and Miss Ada Gray as Queen Elizabeth.

The matinee this afternoon is for the benefit of Mrs. Sarzedas, who has been a faithful and industrious worker throughout the season. In addition to the Workmen of Louisville, which will be presented for the last time, with additional new local scenes, she will present a handsome silver goblet to the lucky holder of the matinee which will be drawn from the box of fortune. We expect to see the matinee crowded.

THE WAR.—The river is fast rising to flood height. Yesterday evening the water was up to the pavements and doors along the levee. The houses that were submerged a few weeks ago, and which have just been put in good order, will again be soaked and ruined. The steamers moored at this point have their planks placed on the sidewalks. The present flood is bringing down considerable quantities of drift wood. Some time large rats sail majestically over—advantage is seized by no other.

OUR NEWS.—The river is fast rising to flood height. Yesterday evening the water was up to the pavements and doors along the levee.

The houses that were submerged a few weeks ago, and which have just been put in good order, will again be soaked and ruined.

The steamers moored at this point have their planks placed on the sidewalks. The present flood is bringing down considerable quantities of drift wood. Some time large rats sail majestically over—advantage is seized by no other.

RECENT.—We are informed that on board the cars from St. Louis to Cincinnati yesterday morning, a United States detective had in custody a prisoner, who was arrested in St. Joseph, Mo., charged with being an accomplice in the late assassination of President Lincoln. He was said to be deeply involved in the crime. We were unable to learn the name of the prisoner, who is being carried to Washington City.

RECENT.—The good people of this State who live on the Kentucky river, and who have an interest in the navigation of that river, are referred to the advertisement calling a meeting of the corporation on the 24th inst., at Frankfort. They will be with us in two or three days. They cannot greet her too warmly.

FOR THE PENTIMENT.—Luke Bennett and Alfred Isacs were tried before the court-martial now sitting in this city, on the charge of being guilty and violating the laws of war, and were found guilty and sentenced to seven years' confinement in the State penitentiary at Frankfort. They will be forwarded to their destination, under strong guard, this morning.

THE PRESS AND TIMES, newspaper, of Nashville, Tennessee, have just been consolidated with the Daily American, Daily Courier, Daily Free and Daily Times. It is a beautiful sheet. Barry Woodburn & Co. are the publishers, and S. C. Mercer is the editor. The new arrangement will, we hope, result in the establishment of an able journal at Nashville.

BARACKS NEWS.—An unusual amount of business was transacted at Baracks No. 1 yesterday. A number of convalescents from various points footed up two hundred and twenty. The transfers were one hundred and thirty-six to Nashville, seventy-two to Alexandria, Va., one hundred and thirty to Indianapolis, Ind., twenty-five to Cairo, Ill., forty-nine to Waukegan, Ind., and four to Lebanon, Ky.

THE CAPT., Tucker, of Breckinridge county, who has been captain of a home-guard company for some time, was taken prisoner by Webster's thieving band a few days since, and carried to a river a short distance from Ashfieldburg, on the south side of Green river, and there shot through the head, and left dying. His remains are buried at Mr. Hawkin's place.

WOOD'S THEATRE.—This charming little theatre was crowded last night. Sam Ryan takes a benefit this afternoon. The manager is to opportunity to see the manager. To-night is the annual meeting of the stock company, Miss Laura Keene's company, from Nashville, a play a short engagement, commanding next Monday.

MURKIN WAS LAVENPORT.—A citizen dining on the highway with his son last Tuesday, near Lavenport, was attacked by two deserters from the Federal army, who attempted to rob him. In the scuffle which followed he was shot. He was able to proceed to the house of a physician, where he soon expired. The murderers are being pursued.

TRAVELLER'S INSURANCE COMPANY.—Mr. Alfred Pirtle is the agent of this company, and his peculiar object should receive the attention of every one who travels or is engaged in extra hazardous employment.

THE PRICE OF COATS has tumbled down from $20 to $15 at Cincinnati, and even at this price there is no demand, and the market is overstocked. The decline in hay in that market is also very decided, the best bid being only $15 per ton, as low as $12 per ton.

CONFEDERATE POSTAL.—The amount of confidential postal currency of different denominations in constant circulation is immense. Few individuals have any idea concerning the quantity of the trash. Close scrutiny is necessary or one will frequently find himself bitten.

OUR NEGRO POPULATION has heard of General Palmer's new order instructing them to leave the city in search of employment. Yesterday the Provost Marshal issued passes to every one who travels or is engaged in extra hazardous employment.

THE PRICE of coats has tumbled down from $20 to $15 at Cincinnati, and even at this price there is no demand, and the market is overstocked. The decline in hay in that market is also very decided, the best bid being only $15 per ton, as low as $12 per ton.

CONFEDERATE POSTAL.—The amount of confidential postal currency of different denominations in constant circulation is immense. Few individuals have any idea concerning the quantity of the trash. Close scrutiny is necessary or one will frequently find himself bitten.

THE BOSTON AND OHLIN RAILROAD has received orders from the Government to provide transportation for fifty thousand men to West over the road. These are the veterans of Sherman's army.

Particular attention is called to Circular No. 2 of General Lindsey. Claims agents must prepare themselves with proper documents before they will receive any attention.

THE BALTIMORE AND OHIO RAILROAD has received orders from the Government to provide transportation for fifty thousand men to West over the road. These are the veterans of Sherman's army.

THE SOCIETY OF FRIENDS OF ST. JOHN'S CHURCH give a Picnic on Monday next, near the Fair Grounds.

ONE deserter was brought here from Nashville yesterday.

HORRIBLE MASSACRE OF A FAMILY AT BAUM SPRINGS, ALA.—The Nashville Daily received intelligence yesterday from a reliable source that a family of a whole family had been massacred at Baum Springs, Ala., consisting of Mr. Wilson, two grandsons, sons of a wife of Mr. Wilson, the owner, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Wilson over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the poor old man died before they got him to the water. After this they returned to the house and shot Mr. Taylor, the overseer, his wife and two daughters, by four bushwhackers a few days ago. They first placed Mr. Taylor over a fire to extract from him his money, and afterwards took him to a spring to drown him, but the

